WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED ISES.....

ISES, The International Special Event Society was founded by a small group of practitioners in 1987. Canada had its first Chapter – the fourth Chapter of ISES, in Toronto the following year. The goal of these inspired event entrepreneurs was to establish a 'society' that spoke to a wide spectrum of individuals working in the Social and Corporate event market.

ISES

.....is the association dedicated to the evolution of the Special Event industry and the people who work there.....

ISES recognizes more than 51 varied disciplines ranging from Design, Planning, Management, Venue, Rentals, Entertainment, Tents, Balloons, Lighting, AV, IT, Floristry, Transportation, and so many more.

The founders of ISES saw a future where event professionals spoke one language. They created The International Special Events Society to promote Knowledge, Fraternity and Ethics amongst its membership and the industry. Twenty-plus years later, these foundations remain the key vision and Mission of ISES Canada – an Affiliate of ISES.

Although celebration has been part of our social milieu for centuries, it is only in the last two decades that the industry of 'people-gathering' has gained recognition as requiring a sophisticated set of skills and comprehension of the human being on a very primal level. In 1987, no text books yet existed.....there were limited courses offered at colleges and universities.... there certainly were no Special Event departments in cultural or sporting venues.....
